Julia Crocker, 1319 Avenue B, Rev. Dr. Phelps officiating. "Swede Henry" Anderson, the noted confidence man, who is in the county jail await ing a trial on the charge of working a Harrison county man, attempted to escape from the juil, but the jailer laid him out with an iron lock and he tried no more.

Owing to the failure to make expected railway connections at Burlington, Mrs. Street, who is accompanying the remains of her son, will not arrive until 5 o'clock this evening. The funeral, which was fixed for 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, will not occur until 10 o'clock Friday.

Most people thought that the aldermanic contest between F. O. Gleason and J. J. Hathaway had dropped clear out of sight, but they were mistaken. Yesterday Hathaway filed a paper in the district court alleging that Gleason had agreed to draw lots for the place, and that as he had consented to this he is now estopped from making any further contest.

The case of Cassel against McLaughlin, in which the ownership of a pool table was at stake, and as the result of which Constable Jackson had a lively bout with the defendant at the saloon on South Main street, was tried in Justice Field's court yesterday and finally compromised, McLaughlin paying Cassell for the table. The criminal cases against McLaughlin, growing out of the transaction, were dismissed.

transaction, were dismissed.

Justice H. H. Field and his wife were scated quietly at home Tuesday evening when they felt a draft from the front door. Upon investigation they found the door had come open. It was closed and locked and nothing more was thought of the occurrence until yesterday morning, when Mr. Field went to put on his overcoat and found it missing. It is supposed that when the draft came in the coat went out, and the only thing that is worrying the owner is the possibility of the thief having pawned it for $2.

Cradle Songs Tonight.

The ladies of the Congregational church have arranged for a very unique entertainment this evening, and it promises to crowd the church with de-lighted listeners. The title "Cradle Songs of Nations," indicates somewhat the nature of the entertainment. French, Chinese, English, German, Scotch, Spanish and American Iullabies will be given, with appropriate costumes and stage settings. A large number of little tots will give a charming dolls' drill. Helen's babies, "Ted" and "Tot," will present their amusing historical tab-Choice music will also be given eaux. by the Dudley Buck quartet. "Sleep, Gentle Lady.' will be given by Mrs Wakefield, Miss Ogden, Mr. Ogden and Mr. Thickstun. In fact the program is a rich and varied one, and the selections are all in keeping with the scenes in Iullaby land. The admission is only 25 cents.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening the ladies of the church will continue to entertain the public by a bazaar. Besides numerous fancy articles there will be a special display of imported tissue odd Brownies, lampshades and numerous novelties, which have been secured for this occasion only. The bazaar will be open to the public from 3 o'clock on. This gives a chance for the little folks to enjoy the display of dollies. In the evening there will be choice music, in which the mandotin will be prominent, refreshments, etc.

DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Conduct of Chief Nicholson to Be Investigated by the City Conneil.

CITIZENS PREPARED WITH EVIDENCE

Alleged Stories Told by Firemen Under His Command-That Omaha Episode-The Entire City Aroused Over the Coming Inquiry.

The investigation of ex-Chief Nicholson of the fire department this evening on the charge of drunkenness while supposed to be attending to his official duties has awakened the interest of every citizen and taxpayer in the city and the result of this evening's session of the city council is awaited with a great deal of anxiety, as upon it the welfare of the city, in a measure, depends. The property owners are interested because in order to keep insurance rates as low as possible a well disciplined fire department is an absolutely essential thing. No one wants to see Nicholson removed from his office simply on the ground of his democracy, as has been unjustly charged, although there has been an apparent desire on the part of some of the addermen to smother such vidence as may be against him, which can be explained on no other ground than that of politics. The investigation is not to be in any sense of the word a persecution, but the evidence which is at hand will be brought in by the city attorney and laid before the council in order that the truth of the charges may be decided.

Ready to Testify Against Him.

Some of the citizens have interested them selves in the matter and claim to have cer tain evidence, in addition to what has al-ready been published in these columns not so much to prove the specific charge of drunkenness as the gen-eral one of official misconduct. The men from Omaha, who were called upon at the time first set for the investigation, have been seen, and it is said will be on hand tonight to show how Nicholson got drunk, smashed a hat belonging to a secondhand store man, and behaved so boisterously on the street that he had to be threatened on the street that he had to be threatened with arrest in order to keep him quiet. Besides these, it is alleged that Nicholson last January required the members of the fire department to "chip in" and only a gold watch for his wife, and, later in the year, to repeat the operation and raise $30 to take Mrs. Nicholson to the World's fair. Just how much truth there is in these charges must be left for the soundit a ludge but. must be left for the council to judge, but they are vouched for on the authority of some of the members of the fire department and will be brought up in the course of the investigation.

NEW JAG MATERIAL.

R. Britton Discovered a Way to Get Drunk on Lemon Extract.

R. Britton, who lives at Underwood, was on the witness stand in the district court yesterday to testify in the case in which his wife, Hettle Britton, is trying to recover $800 from Henry Fisher, a grocer of that place, under the state law, which provides a penalty of $100 for each case where a saloon-ist sells intoxicants to habitual drankards. Britton had a wonderful capacity for liquor up to eight months ago, when he took the Keelay treatment, and his weakness was the cause of a great deal of trouble to his wife. She finally instituted suits against half a dozen people of Underwood, all of whom she charged with violating the state law

When the case came up for trial yester-day a unique state of affairs was discovered. Fisher, being a grocer of the "dry" kind, had never sold Britton whisky or beer, but had sold him, according to Britton's own statement, bottles of lemon extract of the sort commonly used for cultuary purposes. Britton further testified that he had made a practice of draining these bottles, which cost 25 cents each, and then going back after more. In this way he managed to accumulate quite a satisfactory iag and as all the saloon keepers of the city had been warned against selling him liquor their ource was a matter of considerable wonder o Mrs. Britton. The husband had not had is system saturated with gold at that time owever, and so he kept his snap to himself. A druggist of the city was called in and testified that most lemon extracts contained at least 50 per cent of alcohol, so that it was evident that for jag producing purposes it would be a great success, a fact which was probably unknown to most of the men on the When the evidence had all been heard and the attorneys had made their arguments, Judge Smith delivered his charge to the jury. In it he told the jurys that lemon extract could be sold to a habitual drunkard without breaking the law, but the question for them to decide was whether or not the sale and been made in good faith. If they found that Fisher had any idea that Britton was using the stuff as a beverage they must re-turn a veruict against him. With these instructions the case went to the jury shortly pefore 6 o'cloc c.

The jury came in last night at 10:30 o'clock with a verdict which will remain sealed until court convenes this morning. The contents are supposed to be a dead se-cret, but from a source that is considered diable it is learned that the verdict is Poor Lo is Broke. A party of Indians applied at the city jail yesterday for a place to stay for a day or two. They are from the Winnebago agency and the party includes two bucks, two squaws and a pair of pappooses. From the story they tell they have been traveling with a "medicine man," but the company

UNION PACIFIC CHANGES PLANNED

Receiver Clark Talks of the Plans of the Committee on Pacific Roads for Protecting the Government's Interests-The Plan,

New York, Nov. 21-The Herald this morning says: A conference of vast importance was held today in the Union Trust Company building. Its purpose was the formation of a committee to financially reorganize the Union Pacific railroad system with nearly 8,000 miles of road and over $30, 000,000 of securities.

The senate committee on Pacific railroads authorized its subcommittee to sit during the recess with power to send for persons and papers, with a view to protecting the covernment interest in the property, and the subcommittee delegates its powers to Senator Brice, as a committe of one to do this important work. The conference was protracted until late in the friently and businesslike manner, and that tion would probably be made at tomorrow's Morgan's Notion of the Situation.

Washington, Nov. 22-|Special Telegram to The Bee.]-Attorney General Olney's annual report is now in the hands of President Cleveland. That report makes a recommendation regarding the protection of the interests of the government in the Pacific roads, and what that recommendation is no one knows. The attorney general is mute on the subject. So is the president. Everybody who takes any interest in Union Pacific matters has taken a guess at what General Olney and the president will ask congress to do touching that road.

Senator Morgan of Alabama, a member of the Union Pacific roads committee of the senate, has recently been quoted as having prepared a bill of foreclosure against the Union Pacific. The Bee man asked the senator today if he had prepared such a bill. He laughed and said: "Of course not I have not prepared any such bill. I am already on Pacific railroad matters. already on Pacific railroad matters.

Briefly my opinion is this: That the road with its present resources is worth every dollar it owes, and by a proper administration of its affairs can be made to pay all its indebtedness, secure the bonded in-debtedness and the stock again brought to par. I am opposed to the suicidal bank-ruptcy of the road, and in favor of its ad-ministration by a board of fifteen directors. ten of whom to be appointed by the president and five elected by the stockholders of the road.

DEMAND FOR RELIEF.

President Clark Says the Road Cannot Carry Its Lond of Debt. President S. H. H. Clark of the Union Pacific said of the proposed committee of reorganization: "This is the first and most important thing to do. The road cannot carry a debt of nearly $250,000,000 without some such action as proposed.

"The committee of reorganization will take into consideration all the varied interests and then decide upon some plan of relief, protecting at the same time the gov-ernment interest as well as those of the bondnolders, stockholders and others who have legal claims against the road." This committee will not operate the road!" queried the reporter. By no means. The members of the committee will simply weigh all the obligations of the company and then agree upon some plan satisfactory to the creditors of the sys-"Does this mean an extension of the second mortgage?

"Not necessarily although that may be regarded as entirely consistent with the scheme of relief." "The Union Pacific has not defaulted legally to the government but paid the Nev-ember interest. It could not pay the interest, nowever, on the first mortgage and that forced the road into the hands of re-Undoubtedly able men will be appointed on the committee of reorgan ization and upon this committee will fall the most important work congress has had to deal with in a long time There will necessarily be many phases pre-sented to the committee for consideration, but I have no doubt some recommendation will be made which will lift the burdens of the company and put it on a secure financial

"There is considerable money in the treasury of the company which, will be used to pay off the interest on mortgages, but just what interest is a question that the re-ceivers have not decided upon. Of course the underlying claims will have to be taken care of first to guard against foreclosure, otherwise we might wake up some morning and find the road under the hammer. This, of course, is only the remotest possibility, but still has to be looked after."

Speaking of the new receivers, Mr. Clark said: "Both Mr. Coudert and Mr. Doans are able men, eminently fair and the government could not have selected more capa ble servants to look after its interests. "Business," said he, "continues bad, but we are all noping that the worst has been reached.

IMMIGRANT BUSINESS. Western Roads Trying Hard to Effect Some Sort of an Agreement.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.-The western tines are working desperately to get together on the question of the immigrant business, because they realize that if they fail there is every probability of a redhot row. The Wisconsin Central has agreed to the proposition and the only road now standing out is the Chicago Great Western. A committee from the other lines will sweep down upon the officials of this line and endeavor to show to them it is to their advantage to come in on the agreement. The Great Western, however, is handling the Canadian Pacific business from this end and finds the present arrangement very satisfactory. It may join the other lines, and if the agreement is not upheld by the Canadian Pacific or Union Pacific, it will be put into effect at once The matter is now becoming serious, for the Canadian Pacific took another swipe at transcontinental rates today and now makes the $27 rato read from St. Paul to San Francisco, it having previously read to Victoria. At the local offices of that line to Victoria. At the local offices of that line it is positively demed that any such rates are in effect, but for all of that tickets which are not printed over the Northern Pacific are accepted upon its trains, and up to date no passenger presenting such a ticket has had any trouble. Other transcontinental lines cannot endure this thing much longer. They are waiting to see if there is not some pesceptle way out of the thing. against the City brought in a verdict at an early hour yesterday morning which was longer. They are waiting to see if there is not some peaceable way out of the thing, and when finally convinced there is not, the trouble will begin. This is why they are anxious to get the Great Western into the fold, as it is generally believed that it will be guided by the Canadian Pacific and its declaration of fraternity will mean the end of trouble from the Canada line.

The annual report of the Great Northern opened in the district court. Holmes sued for $3,000 attorney fees for his services in three of the Fairmount park cases, but the jury cut the claim down to $2,040, and when the verdict was opened it was found to be Prof. Sutorius and his pupil, Aaron Recommendation of Chairman Caldwell's Committee and How it is Regarded. On October 10 the committee appointed by Chairman Caldwell of the Western Passenger association to investigate the immigrant situation and report some method in which the business could be more successfully handled, made a report through a subcommittee. This report, which was in the nature of an agreement, was approved by the Union Pacific on the ground that it would work a hardship to the Union Pacific se long as the Canadian and Southern Pacific roads were not parties to the agreement.

The agreement as recommended provides that "on and after January 1, 1894, the only commission or compensation of any character payable on scaboard, European immigrant or First ward business reading to points on and via these lines shall be regular chedule second class commissions named in Western Passenger association circular, and that on all such business regular standard tariff rates shall be required." The agreement provides also that westbound immi-grant business, after December 31, shall be done only on trunk line issues of tickets. That no commissions shall be paid to other than regularly authorized agents of a connecting ne on eastbound first class, second class of immigrant business, destined to any point originating at any point inside or outside of the Western Passenger association.

After the adoption of the report a committee was appointed to labor with Mr Lomax of the Union Pacific in an endeavor to secure his co-operation. But the com-

Last Saturday, General Passenger Agent Townsend of the Missouri Pacific called upon General Manager Dickinson but met with rather a chilling reception. Mr. Townsend in making his report to Chairman Caldwell yesterday stated that Mr. Dickinson had said to him the Union Pacific could not under present conditions become a party to any agreement, but it had no desire to demoralize rates or to create trouble. On the contrary it would use its best efforts in aiding the other roads in their efforts to protect their revenues. Under these circumstances there was nothing left the committee to do but ecommend that the association carry ou the scheme of establishing a joint immigra-tion agency at New York for the equitable division of the business and the maintenance of agreed rates independently of the Union Pucific. But with the Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Southern Pacific out of the association it is a pretty hard matter to figure ut any great success for the new scheme. Mr. Lomax complacently views the situation and seemingly looks upon the new method as thoroughly impracticable, al-though he has never said so in so many Domestic soap is the best Shot at Datch. A young man, whose name is carefully protected from the public view by the police, complained yesterday morning that he had been robbed during the night by Cora Reed and Bertha Kerns, two damaged Innocents, Dutch Boyington and George Roper, the latter of whom is just out of the penitentiary. Officer Vandenburg weut with the patrol wagon after the party, and found all but Roper. He sat in the back part of the wagon with the two girls, and allowed Boyington to occupy the place of honor on the sent with Driver Sandel. Boyington occupied the sent from the corner of Twenty-third street and Broadway to the corner of Mynster and Eighth streets, but as the latter corner was rather dark, he suddenly jumped from the wagon and ran for his life. Vandenburg tried to shoot him, but his pistol was rusty and refused to shoot. Sandel, most of whose attention was required by the horses, then pulled his gun and fired three shots in the direction of the rapidly receding figure, but failed to touch the right spot. The two women were fined $10 in police court yesterday morning for vagrancy. Boyington was captured about 3 o'clock and landed in the city jail,

Charles Snyder, the young man who was arrested a few days ago for beating his way at several livery stables in this city, has been given a preliminary examina. tion in police court on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. When he was arraigned and put upon the stand he soon established for himself a reputation as a skillful prevaricator on a large scale that it will take a long time to wear out. Frank Weatherbee and the proprietor of the St. Joe barn were the only proprietor of the St. Joe barn were the only liverymen who were present to prosecute him for working them, but Dan Graham, proprietor of the Emmet house, Mrs. Griffith of South Eighth street, and several more were also there and testified that he had beaten boards bills at their places. Snyder called at the Driving park and engaged fourteen stables for a lot of horses which he expected to bring to the city in a few days, and ended up by engaging board for himself, his wife and child, and three hands that were to work for him. He seemed to have a choice assortenent of wheels in his head, and the Burlington Officials Said to Have Made a From sources regarded as entirely reliable, it is learned that the Burlington system has perfected arrangements by which that road secures a Pacific coast outlet over the Northern Pacific. Mr. Holdrede, who spent a great deal of his time last summer at Sheridan, Wyo., has quietly looked over the whole northern situation, undoubtedly with a view of taking up the extension of the line from its present terminus to a point about fourteen miles east of Billings, Mont., where it is designed to tap the Northern Pacific. It has long been known that the Burnington intended to make Billings one of the important points on its system, but it was thought early in the season that the financial stringency would make it impossible to take up the
